Metal that works

/since 1954

Metalware is among North America's leading industrial shelving manufacturers.

As the first company to patent and market No-Bolt shelving, we pride ourselves in always being one step ahead of our competition through innovative technologies, adaptive solutions, competitive prices and unparalleled customer service.

Bottom line — we've been setting the bar for industrial shelving for over 65 years.

Strength.
Support.
Integrity.

The Metalware advantage

These core principles define us because we love what we do. From conceptualization, through production, right down to delivery, we trust in the strength and integrity of our products and our processes.

Finding the right storage solution for your clients is our absolute top priority. Our team of storage solution specialists supports you, and works with you from start to finish, to develop ideas, design layouts and implement custom storage solutions to help take your client's businesses to the next level.

Shelving systems for all of your storage needs

We build sophisticated and customizable units to adapt to all your storage needs. Our heavy-duty products offer significant upward expansion, making multi-tiered and high-rise systems possible. Strength, durability and cost-effectiveness are the goals we always strive to achieve with our Interlok and Widespan systems. See below the versatility of our product line.
